

Digital Historical Documents

by Peter Valentine

The following document is a digital copy of an existing historical document or manuscript. This document has been laboriously scanned and converted into Portable Document Format (PDF) for the purpose of making it publicly available to the Historical Re-enactment community at large.

Distribution

Please feel free to distribute unaltered copies of this document via electronic means. Do not profit from these documents however, note the copyright for this digital transcription:

Document Format

For these digital facsimiles, I try to work from the clearest and best sources available to me at the time. Generally these documents are scanned on a flatbed scanner and then the individual pages are assembled using Acrobat Exchange to create the PDF files. PDF was chosen because of the freely available reader and its compressed format made it ideal for Internet distribution.
